SITES OF PROPOSED NEW HIGH SCHOOL ARE INSPECTED

Location at E. Broadway and Verdugo Road Seems to Be One Most Favored

The new union high school may be located on the southeast corner of Broadway and Verdugo road. This site was given the most favorable consideration Saturday afternoon by the high school committee of the Chamber of Commerce which made a tour of the various properties offered for sale to the high school board.

Peter L. Ferry is the chairman of this committee. He was present with Attorney Jas. F. McBryde, J. E. Peters, H. V. Henry, C. W. Young, Mrs. John Robert White and Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson. Principal George U. Moyle met with the committee in an advisory capacity at its request.

The property which attracted the most favorable comment is about twenty acres extending east on Broadway past the old pumping plant and south of Verdugo road to within about a hundred and fifty feet of Colorado street. A subcommittee, consisting of Peter L. Ferry, C. W. Young and H. V. Henry, was appointed to investigate the possibility of securing frontage on Colorado street and having the homes there salvaged.

Street Work Already Done

One of the points, which, commended this particular property, is the fact that the street work is in already. The committee was informed that this had cost $22,000. Broadway, being the main thoroughfare to Pasadena, is paved with concrete its entire width while Verdugo road is also paved. Sidewalks, of course, have not been laid.

Another point is the fact that there is an active well on the land. The committee believes that the water could be sold to the city or used for school purposes. A swimming pool was suggested.

This property is owned by J. P. Lukins, J. L. McCumber and George N. Misher. Mr. Lukins and Mr. McCumber were on the ground Saturday.

A site on the northwest corner of Kennilworth avenue and Doran street, belonging to J. R. Grey, was inspected, also. This extends across Fairmont street, which is an extension of Pioneer drive, to Patterson avenue. It is about 200 feet south of the new municipal swimming pool. Doran street is partially paved, but the other streets are not. Mr. Gray stated that the city had agreed to pave Patterson avenue at the time it admitted the plot. This site commands a beautiful view of the foothills.

Other Sites Are Viewed

Fourteen acres across the street from the Doran school, belonging to the Thom interests, were viewed, also. This property, which now contains an orchard, was not considered favorably on account of its irregular shape and the necessity which its purchase would involve of securing additional land.

A site about a block northeast of this, submitted by Arthur Campbell, was considered at the same time. The committee likewise inspected a plot of ground on the southeast corner of Colorado street and Verdugo road, held by the Fitz Investment company.

The committee will meet again at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

'Fluff' O'Neil Is Out Hunting; Gets Gopher and Mouse

True to his promise to begin hunting again as soon as the moist weather prompted the gophers to stick their snouts above the ground, "Fluff" O'Neil, 324 Arden avenue, went out last night and caught a gopher and a mouse.

"That cat of mine ain't like some of these house pussies that wait for a gopher to come into the house and wake them up before they get interested," said J. F. O'Neil. "No sir, he goes right out and pays them a call. If any of the doubting Thomases of Glendale want to call at the Eureka Shoe Repair Shop, 208 1/2 East Broadway, I will be glad to give them particulars about my cat—further, I'll give 'Fluff' their address and send him over to give a demonstration and maybe teach their own cats a few lessons in feline behavior."

HOSTS TO DINNER GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts of 617 East Elk avenue entertained as their Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Peck and Mr. and Mrs. George Scott. A bouquet of large red dahlias centered the dining table.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Keeping on Terra Firma
World Series This Week
Pastoral Path From City
All Can't Be Accommodated

By Gil A. Cowan

A. K. HALL, a photographer, was arrested at Davenport, Ia., last week for violating air traffic rules. He was charged with flying over the city limits within the 2,000 foot elevation limit.

The whole event must have seemed humorous to the residents of Davenport—and interesting, too. But out here in California the high or low flying of an airplane seldom causes a ripple of excitement. Only yesterday some bird man was dropping over Glendale and it is doubtful if many remember seeing him.

In the early days of aviation when Katherine Stinson and a score of birdmen were using the Griffith park landing field, the stunts they did were remarkable. Since the war, however, with the release of thousands of aviators from the army there has been a surfeit of aerial entertainment and people are satisfied to keep their entertainment on terra firma.

Even Roy Knabenshue, who used to be an exponent of the lighter than air machines, has given up the idea of flying across the ocean in a dirigible and he now is promoting an aluminum factory at Burbank. Well do I remember the day of his flight from Pasadena to Griffith park. His machine knocked several bricks from the chimney atop the John Robert White home in North Orange street.

World series starts this week! To the baseball "bugs" this is the big news of the day. All eyes turn to New York for the word as to which league will walk away with honors, although there won't be much walking to do as the championship remains in New York.

This friendly little event between the Giants and the Yankees has Gotham agog and from Broadway, New York, to Broadway, Glendale, the whole country holds interest in the concluding series of the national pastime this year. Readers of The Glendale Evening News will follow closely the expert opinions of the International News and Pacific Sports service writers in these columns.

What a land of wonders where you can motor some place different every week-end for a year. Southern California presents to the tourist and resident as well something in the way of variety that no other part of the world boasts.

Boulevards. That is the one word which tells the whole story. To the mountains, to the valleys, to the beaches they lead in endless number. There are seven roads of ingress and egress for those who would visit Glendale. And each has a charm of its own.

Through busy Burbank or beautiful Hollywood hills, by way of historic San Fernando Road or the newer Glendale boulevard, over Verdugo Road from either Pasadena or Los Angeles and last, but not least, one will find Colorado boulevard through Eagle Rock a surging stream of machines.

Glendale boulevard is the most impressive of all, however, for it demonstrates best the distinction between Los Angeles and Glendale. The Ivanhoe hills have yet to be settled. And they soon will be. So will the territory intervening between this city and the Los Angeles river. But today this undeveloped acreage presents a pastoral panorama pleasing to the newcomer.

Hundreds of homeseekers were to be seen in this vicinity yesterday. From the Angelus park tract at the southern gates of the city to the beautiful Mountain View section on the northwest limits of the Verdugo Woodlands in the foothills, the casual observer could see that the demand for Glendale property grows greater daily.

A resident of Eagle Rock, who came to southern California from the east recently, yesterday stated that he spent $150 in an effort to locate in Glendale. Which tends to prove there is reason for the opening of new tracts, building of more homes and more effort extended in making this a greater community.

With the eyes of the world watching the one white spot of America, it is not strange that all cannot be accommodated who would live in Glendale, the choicest suburb of Los Angeles.

Glendale Women Return From National Convention of War Mothers Just Held at Sacramento; Delegates Coming Here

MRS. J. B. SHERWOOD

MRS. SAMUEL DICK

Local Representatives at the Third National Convention of War Mothers Held in Sacramento Last Week.

Mrs. Samuel Dick of 209 North Louise street and Mrs. J. B. Sherwood of 357 West Broadway have just returned from Sacramento, where they had been attending the third national convention of War Mothers last week as delegates from the Los Angeles chapter of this organization. Both report a very interesting and successful gathering, with practically every state in the union represented either by personal delegates or by letter. Indiana had the largest representation of any state, there being nine delegates present.

Mrs. R. E. Digney of White Point, New York, was elected national president and Mrs. Carr of Indianapolis was elected national vice president of the organization.

Sacramento proved to be very patriotic, giving the delegates to the convention a royal welcome both by the citizens in general and city officials and Governor Stephens.

One of the resolutions voted on at the convention was that upholding the Volstead law and against light wines and beer, which carried by a vote of 30 to 4, the opposition being on the part of delegates from the northern part of the state. This resolution has been forwarded to Congress.

Of especial interest to Glendale is the fact that all the delegates who attended the convention are planning to visit southern California and will be present at the meeting of the newly organized chapter of War Mothers in Glendale, which will be held on October 14 at the home of Mrs. Samuel Dick, 309 North Louise street. This chapter was organized September 22 and has a membership of fifteen.

The Los Angeles and Glendale chapters are now making preparations and are looking forward with much interest to the state convention of War Mothers, which will be held in Los Angeles next June.

STATE HORSESHOE TOURNEY BID WELCOME

Plans for Events to Be Talked
Over at Meeting of Local Chamber of Commerce

At the meeting of the State Horseshoe Pitchers' association held in the council chamber of the city hall Saturday afternoon, it was proposed to hold a state tournament, the date and place to be announced later. Glendale will make an urgent bid for the meeting, and W. H. Nichols, 322 East Fairview avenue, newly-elected treasurer of the state association, will appear before the Chamber of Commerce in the near future at which time plans for holding the event here will be discussed.

While games were being played Saturday afternoon on the Glendale grounds on West Broadway, next to Barton Brothers' garage, 212 West Broadway, the meeting of the executives of the association was in progress at the city hall. The general work of the association during the past year, and the increasing interest being shown in the sport of pitching horseshoes were discussed and officers were elected for the ensuing year. They are as follows: President, Gilman Hoyt, Long Beach; re-elected; secretary, George E. Krimball, Long Beach; re-elected; treasurer, W. H. Nichols, Glendale.

Long Beach had the largest representation of any of the visiting clubs at the gathering Saturday afternoon, five pitching teams being present, and composed as follows:

Team 1, Hoyt and Wilkinson; team 2, Galloway and Beck; team 3, Spence and Coates; team 4, Ford and Anderson; team 5, Ficks and Asherman.

Against the Long Beach teams were arrayed the following five combination teams: Team 1, Pettit 1, Pettit and Schindler, Glendale; team 2, Higley, Glendale; and Bailey, South Pasadena; team 3, White and Smith, Pasadena; team 4, Burns, Glendale, and Newton, Pasadena; team 5, Buckley and Percival, Pasadena.

During the afternoon fifty games, ten series of five games each, were played and Long Beach made away with the greater number of victories, winning forty-two games with a score of 1052 points, and 417 ringers. The combination teams won the remaining eight games, with 622 points and 328 ringers.

State "Champ" Outdone

A special feature of the afternoon was a 100 point exhibition walking game between D. W. Wilkinson, Long Beach, state champion, and Gilman Hoyt, champion of Long Beach. Mr. Hoyt scoring 104 points and 59 ringers, and Mr. Wilkinson scoring 90 points with 49 ringers.

Interest in horseshoe pitching is growing rapidly throughout the United States, the members of the local club state. The state of Minnesota now has 20,000 registered pitchers. In the National Horseshoe Pitchers' association are represented the states of California, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Kansas, Nebraska, Washington, Illinois, Iowa, and Minnesota, and new states are being added as the interest in the pastime grows.

A good-sized crowd was present at the meeting here Saturday afternoon, and had it not been for the inclemency of the weather during the forenoon there would have doubtless been many more. The local grounds were in good shape, considering the weather, and the visitors spent a very enjoyable afternoon either participating in the games or looking on.

With the excellent grounds in Glendale, and 125 enthused members, Glendale stands a good show of landing the state tournaments.

Mayor Robinson In Favor of Bonds for Increasing Schools

"From what I have been able to gather from The Glendale Evening News, the local school system is badly congested at the present time," declared Mayor Spencer Robinson this morning. "The future of this city and its schools are inseparably linked together. It is my opinion that the sooner our schools are provided with adequate accommodations to take care of our increasing population, the better it will be for our community. Home builders will soon cease to come here if there is no room in the schools for their children. I sincerely hope the voters of Glendale will give the coming bond issue their earnest attention."

LIBRARY BOARD TO HEAR OF NEEDS FOR YEAR

Meet Tonight and Organize;
Building Outgrown, Says
Head of Institution

A meeting of the library board will be held at the city library, 315 East Harvard street, at 7:30 o'clock this evening for the purpose of reorganizing and considering the needs of the institution for the coming year. The present board, recently appointed by the city council, consists of the following members: O. Spencer, 433 West Broadway, president; Flora M. Temple, 145 North Orange, secretary; T. W. Preston, 330 North Jackson; Genevieve D. Goss, California apartments, 115 1/2 South Brand, and Mrs. Charles Barker, 1415 South Glendale avenue.

The city library has a very courteous, efficient and pleasant personnel, composed of Alma J. Danford, head librarian, 308 East Harvard street; Laura E. Roberts, first assistant, 406 West Maple street; Leone M. Shattuck, head of the juvenile department, 114 West Broadway; Alice M. Green, assistant in juvenile department, 458 West Maple street; and Dorothy Rich, assistant in general library work, 1217 South Glendale, and Charles Cushing, custodian of the branch library.

Present Building Outgrown

Glendale has always responded generously as readers and the circulation of books has increased from year to year since the first library was established fourteen years ago. The present building, erected at 315 East Harvard street in 1913 at a cost of $12,500, not including the finishing of the interior of the juvenile room, is rapidly outgrowing its quarters, and Mrs. Danford states that the dream of the future is an addition to the building.

The city council has always shown a very sympathetic understanding in making the apportionment for the year, and an increasing interest is being taken in the library.

One important phase that is becoming very apparent in library work, states the head librarian, is that the responses of the people shows the library is outgrowing the idea of merely being a literary light, and the institution is becoming a place of general information, with such features as supplying books for convalescents, as being a welcome place for a stranger to drop in and read a few hours—the fireplace in the evening is always a pleasant feature—and as a factor in working for the moral uplift of the community.

Building Up Departments
During the ensuing year special emphasis will be given to building up a young people's department, building up the drama, medical, technical and sociological departments, and in co-operating in anything of a literary nature with the clubs and schools, and various organizations of the city. It is impossible to cater to the individual requests, but whenever a request comes from a majority or an organization, then the library will be ready to co-operate in any manner.

The increase in the circulation yearly is a very gratifying factor in the work and reflects credit upon both the officials of the institution and the community. During the past year the circulation has been over 100,000 and is steadily increasing.

The library is open every week day from 9 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock in the evening, and on Sunday afternoons from 2 o'clock until 4 o'clock. Visitors and new residents of the city are always welcomed at the library and those in charge of the institution will always be pleased to co-operate with the reading public.

Mrs. C. M. Young and son Robert, of Long Beach, spent the past two days in visiting at the home of Mrs. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Ramey, 467 West Harvard street.

BANDITS FOILED IN ATTEMPT TO ROB GLENDALE MEN

Harry Ewry, Butcher, and His Assistant, L. L. Guthrie,
Victims of Thugs

A trio of daring bandits were foiled in an attempted holdup Saturday night at the Sebastian meat market, located at the rear of the Gray & Gray store, 1127 North Central avenue. An American and negro, armed with revolvers, accompanied by a Mexican, waited until Miss Mabel Noel, Casa Verdugo postmaster, completed a purchase and left the shop before they entered.

After forcing Harry Ewry, the butcher, and L. L. Guthrie, his assistant, to hold their hands above their heads, the burly bandits searched their victims, overloading small change in vest of the store receipts. Not finding the money on the persons of the employees, the pair were pushed into the ice box while the cash drawer was ransacked. This netted them nothing and they made their getaway.

Explaining his good fortune, Mr. Ewry this morning stated that the Sebastian grocery entrusts its money to Gray & Gray and all bills are paid in the grocery department which was not molested by the thieves, although Mr. and Mrs. Gray were alone in the store at the time.

It is believed that the marauders were members of the hobo gang routed from a Southern Pacific freight train on the outskirts of Glendale last week.

Mrs. Nettie Williams and Son Sydney Have Unique Celebration

A rather unique birthday celebration took place at the home of Mrs. Nettie Williams at 811 East Colorado street, on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Williams, who is assistant to D. H. Smith, manager of the Brand Boulevard Branch of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings bank, and her son Sydney, came to Glendale October 1, 1920, from Boston, Mass., where she lived most of her life and where Sydney was born. Mrs. Williams says that the years she spent in the east do not count, feeling that she was reborn the day she reached Glendale, hence the celebration for her "first" birthday. Sydney, too, feels the same way and refuses to take into account the fourteen years he spent in Boston.

Mrs. Williams entertained a few of her intimate friends from Glendale and Los Angeles by serving Russian tea prepared in a Samovar, a Russian tea machine, which was served in glasses instead of cups. The sitting room of her cozy little bungalow just completed, was decorated with flowers from her own grounds and the table was decorated with pinks and roses sent by Captain V. S. Macneff of Universal City. Mother and son were the happy recipients of many birthday gifts from friends in Boston and New York, also a number of telegrams and cards of birthday greetings.

After the tea the party drove to Los Angeles and attended a theatrical performance.

Mrs. Williams is a hearty booster for beautiful Glendale and hopes that her folks will join her as they dispose of their business interests in Boston. The only missing link in the chain of her happiness is that her people are not here to share the pleasures of life. To prove that Mrs. Williams believes in the prosperity of Glendale, she has invested all her money in real estate here and she says as soon as she gets more into building of bungalows in Glendale it will go.

Joe Kucera of 610 East Broadway was a visitor last Friday afternoon of Chase Rand of Los Angeles, who was recently seriously injured in an automobile accident. Mr. Rand, who is a former resident of this city and is well known to many local citizens, was struck by a machine two weeks ago as he was alighting from a street car in Los Angeles, and as result received two broken legs, a fractured collar bone, several cracked ribs and various internal injuries. Mr. Kucera reports that the injured man is slowly recovering from his many ailments.

MOTHER'S NIGHT AT PALACE GRAND TO PROVE SURPRISE

It's Not Moving Picture and It's Genuine Novelty, Is the Manager's Statement

The long-awaited-for surprise is here at last. Tonight is the first "Mother's Night" at the Palace Grand theatre. This big surprise is promised to be a genuine novelty, for the special amusement of the mothers of Glendale. Nothing is known of the nature of the surprise except that it is not a moving picture.

Tonight will be the last showings of the Carter DeHavens in their newest farce comedy, "The Girl in the Taxi," and Hugh Ford's British Paramount production, "The Call of Youth."

"Passing Thru" and "Unseen Forces" constitute the double bill which comes Tuesday and Wednesday.

The blowing up of a brick bank building within which are all of the principle characters of the story, is but one of a number of thrills that makes "Passing Thru," Douglas MacLean's new Thomas H. Luce comedy for Paramount, one of the most sensational as well as humorous screen offerings of the season.

Chase Bank Bandits

The detonation comes during the final scenes of the comedy and it's bearing on the plot and outcome is both unusual and entirely unexpected. There are many other equally sensational scenes, including a wild chase of bank bandits and a vivid train wreck. The comedy incidents and situations, however, are the outstanding features of the production.

The wave of public interest in the occult now sweeping the country is expected to contribute much to the success of "Unseen Forces," a gripping mystery story which has been pictured by Sidney Franklin. The story centers around a girl possessed of uncanny powers. From a naive country girl she becomes a popular medium for New York's elite. In this role will be seen Sylvia Breamer, and the cast includes Conrad Nagel, Rosemary Theby, Sam De Grasse, Robert Cain and Andrew Arbuckle.

FAITH'S OPEN DOOR TO GOD, STATES REV. C. M. CRIST

Cannot Be Found With Tower of Babel, Says Pastor of First Methodist Church

Sunday night at the First Methodist church the pastor, Rev. C. M. Crist, preached to a large and appreciative audience on the theme, "Is There a God? If So Where Is He?" The text used was Heb. 11:6. Dr. Crist said in part:

"Multitudes would gladly be rid of the conviction that God is, for God is to them the greatest inconvenience. Materialistic, atheistic science has been trying to disprove God's existence, for a hundred years. But philosophy, not to say theology, makes God a necessity. To explain life even on the plane of the physical makes necessary the postulating of God as the sufficient cause. How much more does life intellectual and spiritual?"

"The 'primordial star' dust and the 'natural selection' theory have the approval of so-called science, but they fail to explain. It takes more faith to believe science than Revelation. The whole of creation speaks of the Creator. Philosophy, and the Scriptures as well, declare that He is.

One Must Have Faith

"God is not discoverable, however, by the building of a tower of Babel. One must believe; faith is the open door. The natural man cannot know the things of the spirit of God. These things are to be spiritually discerned. The spirit of man is a perceptive faculty.

God rules the universe by immutable laws. To learn these laws and to operate in harmony with them brings us face to face with God. "Man's own well being," said Dr. Crist, "depends upon his seeking God's truth in the various realms of creation. To get physical blessing one must know the laws that govern in that realm. To get spiritual satisfaction he must recognize and be governed by the spiritual laws. It is quite possible that one who has great physical strength may be but a spiritual pigmy or a mental imbecile.

"To know God and to receive the reward that results from that knowledge is in the last analysis the full duty and privilege of man."

SHOWS JAPAN ARMING FASTER THAN ANY OTHER POWER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Figures being prepared today by Government experts for use during the forthcoming armament limitation conference show that Japan is arming at a furious pace, a rate many times faster than any other world power. The figures are authentic so far as is possible to make them. They represent the work of American observers abroad, the combining of statistics here, and are supplemented by such special information as has been obtained through special channels. From fourth rate naval power before the world war, Japan has crept up until she soon will be on even footing with the United States and snapping at Great Britain's heels for naval leadership unless checked. The figures being prepared here for use of the American delegation at the armament conference show that the Japanese people now are staggering under a burden of naval armament nearly three times greater in proportion than that of any other peoples. Thirty-two cents out of every dollar of Japanese taxes go for the upkeep of the present navy and the tremendous new fighting machines now under construction.

Householder Family Here From Nebraska Journeying In Ford

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Householder and family, who recently arrived from Kearney, Nebraska, to make their home in Glendale, are now residing at 226 Chester street. The family motored from Nebraska to Glendale, taking their time in making the trip and stopping off to enjoy different places en route.

The trip was made by way of Colorado, Montana, Washington and Oregon. Considerable time was spent in visiting Denver, Colorado Springs, the flood district of Pueblo, and Yellowstone park. A Ford was used for the journey and Mr. Householder states that very little trouble was experienced throughout the whole trip.

Mr. Householder is associated in business with John Ferrend, the two being affiliated with the Glendale Investment company, Room 8, Rudy block. Both are experienced real estate men. Mr. Ferrend having had much experience in that line in Montana, while Mr. Householder conducted an extensive realty business in Nebraska, and since their office was recently established in the Rudy block, a very generous response has been accorded by the public.

Local People Will Attend Conference of Methodist Church

The annual official conference and the annual conference of the Southern California Laymen's association of the Methodist Episcopal church will both be held in Los Angeles this week. Rev. C. M. Crist, pastor of the Glendale First Methodist church this morning stated that the two meetings had no connection beyond the fact that they are held simultaneously.

Assignment of ministers to their churches is made at the official conference. This will open Thursday in the University Methodist church of Los Angeles with Bishop Adna W. Leonard presiding. At the last quarterly conference of the local church recommendation was made to W. L. Y. Davis, superintendent of the Pasadena district, including Glendale, that Rev. Crist be retained for the coming year. Assignment of Rev. Crist elsewhere is not expected either by himself or his congregation although the matter will not be settled officially until the end of the official conference.

The laymen's program starts on Thursday at the Orchard Avenue church building in Los Angeles. At this time matters of interest to the church from a layman's standpoint will be discussed. Each Methodist church in the district is allowed one delegate for each fifty members.

The following will attend from Glendale: T. A. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Spickerman, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bott, W. A. Webber, Henry Johnston, Mrs. H. V. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Starkey, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lusby, J. B. Clark, H. E. Lindley, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Tower and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Geiger.

Thirty-one hundred portable houses are being shipped to northern France and Belgium by an American company. Scattered among the ruins of stone cottages many centuries old, new, brightly-painted, frame houses will spring up over night.

School Census to Be Taken; Parents Asked to Assist

The regular school census, known officially as the annual registration of minors, is being taken this afternoon and tomorrow at the public schools under the direction of L. T. Rowley, attendance officer.

Blank forms for the purpose have been supplied to the local school system by Will C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction. Children below the fourth grade will take them home to be filled out by their parents, while pupils above this grade will fill them out in the classrooms under their teacher's direction. There is a space on the blank for the names of brothers and sisters. These names will be checked over at the various schools in order that there may be no duplication. The high school will be asked to register pupils who have no brothers or sisters in the grammar schools.

"The call still stands for parents, who have children between the ages of 3 and 18 not in school, to report at the nearest school house immediately and register them," stated Mr. Rowley this morning. "The registration will be a partial failure in spite of everything we can do because of the difficulty of reaching the foreigners. I am going to canvas the Mexican colony myself."

ASH BEST MATERIAL FOR BATS

In making baseball bats no substitute for wood has been found, says the American Forestry Magazine. Ash has won the leading place. Several qualities must be considered in selecting wood for bats, but the most essential are weight and strength. The shock and strain are severe at the moment of impact when the well-aimed blow meets the flying ball in midair and almost instantly stops it and sends it in the opposite direction. If the wood is not excellent the blow shatters it.

Mrs. A. A. Burchfield and Miss Margaret Burchfield of 642 North Kenwood street entertained a group of friends at a very delightful function given Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Doris Ingledue, who is soon to become the bride of Ellis Thomas.

As the guests arrived they were invited to help tie a beautiful comforter which, when finished, was presented to the happy guest of honor. It was then played, first prize being awarded to Miss Helen Ingledue and consolation prize to Miss Stowe, both of whom presented the prizes to Miss Doris Ingledue.

At 5 o'clock the guests were invited into the dining room and found places at a beautifully decorated table by means of unique place cards. A scroll attached to each place card by means of a ribbon bow revealed the fortunes of the owner and were the cause of much merriment. Attention was then turned to the delicious menu served, after which Mrs. Burchfield entered with interesting looking packages and deposited them before Miss Ingledue. Their contents were fully as interesting as they gave promise to be and contained beautiful and useful gifts for the new home of the bride-to-be.

Guests present included Mrs. S. H. Fish, Mrs. T. Gregory, Miss Ella Stowe, Mrs. Laura E. Whitney, Mrs. Sarah Thomas, Mrs. W. D. McClellan of La Verne, Mrs. Ernest Wolber, Mrs. C. W. Ingledue, Miss Helen Ingledue, Miss Doris Ingledue and the hostess.

Green and pink were used in the dining room.

The guests were entertained by piano numbers by Mrs. W. A. Haines, violin solos by Miss Genevieve Mulligan and readings by Miss Mulligan and Miss Zora Glassey.

Mrs. Thomas then presented the bride and bridegroom-to-be with a large suit case box, telling them that they would find use for it when taking their honeymoon trip. When opened this box was found to contain many beautiful and useful gifts. The refreshments of ice-cream and cake served later in the evening included a large white cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, which had been made for the occasion by Mrs. McClellan of LaVerne.

Unique Display Being Made by A. Dibbern

Arthur H. Dibbern, who opened a jewelry store at 121 North Brand boulevard Saturday is exhibiting an artistic window display which is attracting attention and eliciting many flattering comments. The display is composed of groups of jewel cases designed in the French Gothic period. Each container is hand-carved wood, finished in antique gold and polychrome, with pads of mistral blue velvet.

Beautiful silk lamp shades of the same blue tone harmonize with the woodwork wall coverings, and curtains. The entire ensemble makes a most fitting background for the platinum and diamond jewelry shown.

Mr. Dibbern's store was visited by a large number Saturday and the interest and appreciation shown are very gratifying, he says. In an ad which appears in today's issue of The Glendale Evening News, he extends his thanks and appreciation to the public.

It has been calculated that dust storms in the western United States are responsible for carrying 850,000,000 tons of dust 1440 miles every year.

HALLOWEEN SEASON NOW APPROACHES, LIBRARY SHOWS

Interesting Books Are Being Displayed in Department for Young People

Posters and books suggestive of the Halloween season are being put in place in the young people's department at the public library on Harvard street. As these books will be quite in demand at this time they will be issued for only four days, in order that they may be available for a larger number of patrons.

There will be the regular story hour under the direction of Miss Leone Shattuck Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. One of the stories to be told will be "The Wonderful Bag o' Rags."

Books issued for distribution during the past week in this department include the following stories of frontier life: "Cardigan," by Chambers; "The Maid at Arms," by Chambers; "King Spruce," by Day; "The Captain of the Gray Horse Troop," by Garland; "Cavanaugh, Forest Ranger," by Garland; "Santa Fe's Partner," by Janvier; "Judith of the Plains," by Manning; "Northern Lights," by Parker; "The Squaw Man," by Royle; "A Captain Unafraid," by Smith; "The Planter," by Whitaker; "The Settler," by Whitaker; "Lin McLean," by Wister.

School and Library
The close relation between the school and the library is shown in the announcement made by Mrs. M. O. Ryan, principal of the Broadway school, that pupils would be given credit for reading one book a week from a list submitted to them.

Mrs. Alma Danford, librarian, has been requested by Mrs. Ryan to recommend a list of such books. These books will be of a general nature and any suggestions from teachers interested will be gladly received by Mrs. Danford in this connection.

Teachers in the schools will also find a great help in the supply of stereoscopes and stereographs that can be used in school work. There is also a splendid collection of mounted pictures of poets, historic places, birds, flowers and so forth for circulation. Some of these pictures are in the natural colors.

CORNER PROPERTY BOUGHT

The northeast corner of Lexington street and Central avenue has been sold for E. W. Coe to Laura Walker, the sale being made by Charles B. Guthrie's realty office, 103 1/2 South Brand boulevard. 'THAT DAY' SUBJECT OF ADDRESS BY REV. EDMONDS

Christians Looking Forward to Jubilee; Time to Join With Christ Is Now

At the Presbyterian church Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds preached to a large congregation on "That Day," using as a text, "For I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him (literally placed on deposit with Him) against that day," and "Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day." (II Tim. 1:12 and 4:8). A resume follows:

"In the calendar of nations are great outstanding days, red letter days. Much of our lives is centered around memorable anniversary days or days of great coming events, which overtop common existence. In Israel, such was the year of Jubilee, every fiftieth year, wherein every debt was cancelled, every shackles fell, every loss restored, and all began anew.

"We are looking forward as Christians to jubilee. Paul, speaking to his dear Timothy, says he has placed on deposit with God his whole life; at That Day he is going to get the repayment, with interest; he is going to have a crown, a crown of rejoicing.

"Paul often speaks of That Day. It is the day when Jesus is to come again; not figuratively, but literally, bodily. He came once, a babe; He grew, and walked about in humble manhood, doing good. He was acquainted with grief and rejected. When He comes again at That Day it will be as King. You can't make Him king; He is already. Don't ask when that day is; we don't know; we do know that every day it is that much nearer.

"When He comes it is not alone, a host is coming with Him; our loved ones are coming with Him. He is coming to bring full salvation. We have not yet entered into the fullness of the salvation that has been prepared; what we have had thus far has been but the foretaste. Rusk says, 'you will find in any dirty factory yard after rain four elements: clay, soot, sand, water. Nature's transmutation, given time enough, will change that clay into a sapphire; that sand into an opal; the soot into a diamond; the water into a dew drop, most beautiful of all.' Nature can do that. What can God do in transmuting the sinner with a ray of His sunlight when He comes?

It's Day of Rewards

"And That Day is a day of rewards. We are not now asking for rewards or prizes. Did you ever think of it; Paul has not yet received his crown? Nor Abraham; nor any of our loved ones. Together with them we are looking to the great day for our rewards. You can't count up the interest accruing on what you have 'placed on deposit' with Him.

"That Day will be a day of restoration. 'The world is growing and waiting for the promise. I will make all things new.' Step by step all human government has been a failure; the curse and blight of sin are everywhere. And it is going to be a day of accountability. The great bank examiner is going to come. Is there anything in your books you don't want Him to see? A great vault door clicks, on the time; you have securities within. Those are God's securities. We have received His stewardship and our responsibilities will face us. And what about your time, your feet, your all? To Him you must give account.

"And Jesus Christ can't keep standing at the door knocking for entrance where no admittance yet has been given; He can't be waiting much longer; He must be going to meet His bride. Let Him in; behold, now is the accepted time; now is the day of salvation."

AT WEDDING CEREMONY

Thomas Gillett and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Gillett, of 212 West Cypress avenue, motored to Long Beach last Thursday afternoon, where they attended the wedding of Mr. Gillett's granddaughter, Miss Edna Louise Gulvin, and Clarence E. Roberts of Los Angeles. The bride was the daughter of Mrs. C. E. Gulvin, former resident of Colorado street and who is now living at Long Beach.

The ceremony, which took place in Mrs. Gulvin's beautifully decorated home amid a large gathering of friends, was performed by Rev. C. R. Norton of this city, who is an old friend of the family. Rev. and Mrs. Norton were accompanied on the trip to Long Beach by Mrs. Laura Thaxter of Sunland, who was an aunt of the bride. Following a brief honeymoon, the destination of which was not announced to the newlyweds' friends, the young couple will make their home in Alhambra, where the bridegroom is employed.

Religious Education Greatest Work for Church, States
Rev. C. M. Calderwood

Rally day was observed yesterday in the church school of the Congregational church by an appropriate program. There was a large attendance in all departments and classes were promoted in the several departments.

At the service of morning worship Rev. C. M. Calderwood, the pastor, spoke on "Religious Education." He said that democracies can not function properly without proper education.

"There is need of physical education and of vocational training, but these alone will not make democratic governments safe," he said.

"We are not giving the people proper religious education. There are 50,000,000 people outside of the churches in the United States. Few of these are receiving religious instruction or moral training.

"There are 27,000,000 Protestant young people in the United States who are not in the church. There are 664,590 Protestant young people in California who are not receiving religious education. Will the leaders of tomorrow have ideals and purposes if the young people of today are not receiving them?

"The public schools cannot do this work, the homes are not doing it and the church is only partially doing it. We do not give enough time to it. One-half hour each week is not enough for instruction in religious truths and ideals. This is the most important work of the church."

'Riddle of Sphinx' Subject of Address by Dr. F. L. Riley

Dr. F. L. Riley took for his subject Sunday morning, "The Riddle of the Sphinx." Contrary to the expectation of many of his audience, he treated the subject from a biblical standpoint.

Quoting many passages of scripture bearing upon the subject which are invariably taught and accepted literally, he said that in order to correctly understand the correct meaning of writings of thousands of years ago, one must have the "key," as in the case of the deciphering of a telegraphic message sent in the form of "code." Without an understanding of the "code" one could not understand the intent of the message.

"The 'code' or 'key' to our Bible is its allegorical interpretation, which is neither taught nor understood by the orthodox teachers of our Bible; this makes much of the teaching of the most wonderful book in the world enigmatical," he said.

"The Alexandrian library, containing more than 800,000 volumes, or rolls, which, owing to religious persecution by the Mohammedans, were consigned to the flames, keeping the water hot in the public baths for six months; contained all the allegorical interpretation necessary to a correct knowledge of the wonderful truths contained in our Bible.

Reads Many Bibles

"The Mohammedan Bible is about 1300 years old; our Bible over 2000 years old; one old Bible of the east is comprised of thirty volumes. There are scores of Bibles representing various 'beliefs' through all of which 'runs the golden thread of truth.' As a student for more than twenty years of the world's religions I have read more than sixty of these Bibles.

"The Sphinx of Egypt faces the east; 'east' being symbolical of light and life; 'west' of darkness and death, as in the 'raising and setting' of the sun.

"The Dr. Jekel and Dr. Hyde compare favorably to the Sphinx; as shown in scripture, the upper portion of the body portrays the better nature, the spiritual; the lower, the sensual, brutal, beastly; a dual being."

The speaker also, in illustrating, interpreted the dual nature of the moon as shown in scripture, one side only of which is seen by humanity. He asserted that "innocence" in many cases is simply inexcusable ignorance. That the oft quoted expression "where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise," is a "foolish lie," he said.

The speaker also commented at length upon the wide chasm and persecution of each other, by so-called "believers." Asserting as his belief that the object sought by "leagues of nations" will never be secured while religious persecution exists.

PLEDGE MONEY FOR PIANO
A hundred dollars towards the purchase of a new piano was pledged yesterday evening by the Senior B. C. E. society of the Presbyterian church. About forty-five members were present and Howard Brown made short work of securing promises in amounts ranging from $1 to $5.

MORAL TRAINING, SAYS PASTOR

Interesting Program Is Well Presented; Sermon Given by Rev. E. E. Ford

The effect of Rally day was seen at the Baptist church yesterday. Though the attendance was not as large as on last Sunday, yet for a regular session of the Sunday school, the record was broken. The superintendent and teachers were taxed to the utmost to find room for all the classes. Additional class rooms were sadly needed. The morning congregation filled the house as usual. The pastor, Ernest E. Ford, used the words found in John 12:21: "Sir, we would see Jesus." The speaker said:

"I take this call of the Greeks to be a real cry, and voicing a universal request. It that be so, it is enough to make one feel the weight of his responsibility, standing before a waiting congregation. Every minister of the Gospel, every Sunday school teacher, is asked to tell the story of Jesus, and not only that but to show Him in their lives. Never was the cry more insistent than today.

May Be Sub-conscious

"It may be sub-conscious, as was the call from Macedonia, 'Come over and help us.' The whole world around, yes the heathen world—feeling after God, if happily they might find Him. 'God who is above all, and through all, and in you all.' The soul is ever restless until it rests in God, there is no other resting place.

"The disciples of old said to Jesus, 'Show us the Father and we will be satisfied.' And Jesus said: 'He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father.' We can learn much about God through nature, but only through the revelation of Himself in His Son, can we call God Father, and know our sins are forgiven.

"If we would see Jesus, we must make much of His Word. 'These are written that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that ye might have life through His name.'

"If 'we would see Jesus' we must go alone in the closet, and shut the door of the world, and talk with Him. We sometimes sing, 'Let others see Jesus in you.' If we are to reflect the likeness of the Son of God, we must be much in His presence.

At the communion service that followed, several new members were given the hand of church fellowship."

Girl Tells Police of Alleged Attack; Inquiry Under Way

Accused by Edna Salvage of an attempted attack, William Shyloski of Los Angeles is held in jail here awaiting arraignment late today. Residents of North Glendale in the vicinity of Randolph street were disturbed about 10:30 o'clock last night by the girl's cries and witnesses found Shyloski chasing her, it is said by the police.

In a statement regarding the affair, Shyloski told the police that he had taken Miss Salvage on a joy ride in a borrowed motor car Sunday evening and that they had become lost in the foothills. She got out to walk and when he asked her where she was going, she started to scream. Several people ran to her assistance and the motely crowd appeared at the police station after 1 o'clock this morning. They will be present again this afternoon to tell of the occurrence.

Thefts reported to the department over the week-end includes the ransacking of the T. W. Preston home at 230 North Jackson street while the family was away at the beach. Lingerie and jewelry were taken by the robbers who gained access to the house through a rear window. The matter was not reported to the police until it was too late to gain any clues other than a list of the stolen property.

Horace Anderson of 454 Maple avenue, a Glendale Evening News carrier boy, reported his bicycle stolen. M. E. Morgan lost a tire from his car while parked in front of his home at 724 South Louise street. The Baker Ford Rental agency reports a car missing after being taken from 301 East Broadway by two local boys. L. E. Eckles of 335 West Patterson avenue informed the police that his Airedale dog was gone.

Several minor motor smashes also were reported over the week-end.

G. T. PAINE'S SISTER DIES

George T. Paine, 351 Ivy street, attended the funeral of his sister, Mrs. E. F. Arnold Saturday, September 30, 1921, in Los Angeles. After the services, at which a fitting sermon was preached by Rev. C. R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue, Glendale, the body was brought to Forest Lawn for interment.

STATE REAL ESTATE CONVENTION WILL BE IN OAKLAND

About 1000 Will Attend Is Estimate; Own Your Home Campaign Supported

By E. P. HAYWARD
Secretary Glendale Realty Board.
The annual state convention of the California Real Estate association will be held at Hotel Oakland, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 17, 18 and 19. One thousand real estate men and women are expected to attend the annual meeting. On the last day the association delegates will attend the California-Stanford game in a body.

Directors were present at the quarterly conference in Oakland Saturday from eleven parts of the state, including Fred E. Reed, president, of Oakland; C. C. C. Tatum, vice president, of Los Angeles; Albert E. Kern, second vice president, of San Francisco; and Frazier O. Reed, third vice president, of San Jose.

Resolutions pledging hearty cooperation to the San Francisco real estate board in entertaining the national real estate convention delegates during their visit to that city next June were adopted. The directors will lend every possible aid to California real estate boards in securing delegations of national realtors to visit various parts of the state.

"Spend your vacation in California next summer and attend the national association convention at San Francisco," is the slogan adopted by the association to voice the wishes of the organized realtors in California.

Own Your Own Home
A state-wide "own your home" campaign was endorsed for next spring beginning February 15.

The directors anew pledged their support to the state real estate department and the state commissioner, Edwin T. Keiser, in enforcing the real estate license laws. The action of the California supreme court last week in upholding the realty commissioner's revocation of the license of a Berkeley broker was declared by the state association directors to be of far reaching importance to realtors throughout the nation. This test case emphasizes absolutely the power of the people through the real estate department to revoke licenses issued to dealers found guilty, after a hearing, of violation of the code of ethics of the real estate profession.

Glenn D. Willaman, editor of the state magazine, was elected secretary-treasurer of the state association, succeeding R. Porter Giles of Oakland, who resigned owing to pressure of duties in his work as secretary of the Oakland real estate board and as deputy real estate commissioner. Giles has been secretary of the state association for two years. A hearty vote of appreciation of his services to the state realtors was adopted by the directors.

The financial report of the secretary-treasurer showed the state association to be in strong condition, with a substantial cash balance in the bank.

The report of the official magazine, California Real Estate, whose first volume closed with the current issue, was declared to be very satisfactory.

Refund of Brokers' Fees
The refund of fees by brokers and salesmen to the state association for the support of its magazine and the work of the organization netted over 400 members. During the past ten months the membership of the association has doubled.

A state-wide membership day was set for Thursday, October 27, when every member will get a new member for the state association. New real estate boards organized since the last directors' meeting in June, include San Rafael, Martinez, San Mateo, Madera, Monterey, Peninsula, Reedley, Vallejo, Stockton and Orland.

The directors accepted the invitation of the Los Angeles realty board, proffered through Frank Ryan, president, to attend the annual jinks of the Los Angeles board October 13, 14 and 15, at Catalina Island. The San Francisco real estate board will on this occasion pay a return visit to the Los Angeles board.

Present at the meeting Saturday were the following directors: St. George Holden, San Francisco; Benj. F. Wright, Monterey; O. A. Vickrey, Frank Ryan, Los Angeles; Chris R. Jones, Sacramento; F. F. Porter, Oakland; C. C. Juster, Berkeley; George J. Wren, Modesto; Herman Janss, San Joaquin. Visiting realtors included Colbert Coldwell, president, and Leslie E. Burks, secretary of the San Francisco real estate board, and R. Porter Giles, secretary of the Oakland real estate board.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, President Fred E. Reed addressed the state convention of the California Land Title association in session in the same hotel. The keynote of his speech, "Co-operation" between realtors and title and abstract companies, met with hearty response from title men.

Starfish are very destructive to oysters, which they devour after opening the shells by a steady strain on the valves. The injury to the oyster beds of Rhode Island caused by starfish in one year was estimated at $100,000.

VAN NUYS PRESSING BURBANK IN NEW BUILDING WORK

Many Homes Being Erected In Valley Town; Young Eagle Captured in Mountains

Burbank promises to have a close competitor in the matter of city building in the San Fernando valley. The former city runs second to Glendale, but Van Nuys is forging right to the front with more than a half-million to its credit so far this year. Practically all of the buildings in the latter place are residences while Burbank has benefited from factory and store buildings.

Capture American Eagle

A young American eagle, measuring six feet, eight inches, from tip to tip, was captured by C. L. Mulliner and Art Perkins of Van Nuys. The bird was caught near Seminole Springs in the mountains above Calabasas. Mr. Mulliner has it at his home but he expects to sell it to a Los Angeles zoo.

Circle Real Estate Company Forms From Ad In Evening News

The Circle Real Estate company, a newly-organized firm under the administration of A. H. Barnes and E. T. Seidenglanz, opened up for business today at 120 North Brand boulevard. The company has a large number of listings and is headed by two men who believe that Glendale has all that is to be offered in the way of business opportunities and a place in which to live.

Mr. Barnes has been a resident of Glendale for the past four years, and lives at 1300 East Lexington. Mr. Seidenglanz, 426 West Barchett street, came here about three months ago from Wisconsin.

The organization of the company was the outcome of an ad in The Glendale Evening News. Mr. Barnes had advertised for an office, and Mr. Seidenglanz had inserted an ad for a business partner. The two met, the Circle Real Estate company was formed and the proprietors are now ready for business at 120 North Brand boulevard.

Bessie Barriscale Is Glendale's Attraction

Bessie Barriscale is to be seen again today at the Glendale Theatre in "The Broken Gate," a J. L. Frothingham production.

"It is a screen adaptation of the novel of the same name by Emerson Hough—a story which might fit any community, and its characters are real human beings whom you might meet anywhere. Miss Barriscale is seen in a widely different role from any that she has thus far essayed, that of a sacrificing mother who has worked unceasingly for her only son. Only after he has received his degree at college and sees his mother for the first time in many years does he realize all that she has gone through for his sake. And then, close upon this realization comes the devastating knowledge that his father and mother were never married. How he discovers which man in the town where they live is the one who wronged his mother so many years ago, and how that man is forced through a chain of circumstances which Fate draws about him with an ever-tightening hold, to make atonement, makes for screen entertainment of the very highest type.

Other numbers of the program are equally interesting.

Let Israel hope in the Lord; for with thee Lord there is mercy, and with Him is plenteous redemption.—Psalms.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.

PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

As spectacles, the world's baseball series stand second only to the half dozen annual great "big games" of the football season, but in the matter of general interest aroused throughout the country, they stand in a class by themselves.

Such games as the Yale-Harvard, Princeton-Harvard and Yale Princeton contests draw greater crowds of close and enthusiastic adherents. The organized cheering and "stunts" staged by the collegians, and the display of colors of the contesting teams are features which are lacking at the blue ribbon series, the lack of which makes the world's series less of a spectacle.

Thousands, often are turned away from the world's series for lack of seating capacity, but this also is the case in big football games. Often only the graduates and undergraduates of these institutions are able to secure the precious passports while such of the public unaffiliated with either of the colleges get in only if they chance to know the holder of a ticket.

Practically all those interested in football games are interested, at least superficially, in the world's series. But the world's series holds the interest of tens of thousands who do not take even a superficial interest in the result of a big football game.

Thus the anomaly exists that while the big football games hold less of the general national interest, their close adherents make for greater audiences.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK

PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

We note that the Indiana football varsity team is planning to play "straight football" this season. Must have been reading about the Chicago black Sox case.

There is always a lot said that wrestling is crooked but we never knew that football was anything but straight. Judging by the large number of times we read of "straight football" someone must be insinuating that football is crooked.

We have no record in our files which shows any athlete to have beaten the gun off his mark more frequently than Roy Gardner, the bandit sprinter.

Bill Tilden, the world champion tennis player, last week expressed his opinion as to who he thought the best women tennis players of the country. Naturally Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory is placed number one, but the remarkable fact of Tilden's selections is that he considers the fifteen-year-old child player of this Pacific coast, Helen Wills, so good that he places her in seventh position. When one considers that only players of the type of Mallory, Mary Browne, May Sutton Bundy, Eleanor Goss and Mrs. Jessop outrank Helen Wills and that there are a dozen or more other women players very close to these leaders, then the placement of the Pacific coast child in seventh place is all the more remarkable.

If certain men make the berths they are aiming for, the Syracuse university football team will have one of the heaviest teams of any college in the country. Six men, weight two hundred pounds or more, as follows: Thompson, 233; Van Blarcom, 225; "Big Six" Whitcomb, 217; Jim Murray, 209; Gould, 206, and Newman, 203 pounds.

Athletes all over the country will be deeply interested in the November meeting of the A. A. U. when the question of reinstating the 100-yard record of 9 3/5 seconds made by Arthur Duffy. The present generation of athletes know nothing of the Duffy mark, nor of the facts which led up to his mark being erased from the record books on the ground of professionalism. There has always been a question on this and an attempt will be made to have the figures put back on the books. Several attempts have previously been made, but all have failed. This time, however, there seems to be a sentiment all over the country favoring the record. Just how the hard-headed governors of the A. A. U. will look at the matter is another question.

Paris Catacombs Reopen After War; Many Visitors

By EDWIN W. HULLINGER

PARIS—Unique among historical show-places in the world and famed for centuries on both continents, the catacombs of Paris were recently reopened to visitors, having been closed six years on account of the war.

The celebrated tombs, undisturbed by human visitation while the world was busy fighting above, have been a popular drawing point for the big influx of American tourists in Paris this summer. Long lines of Yankees form regularly outside the gates the two afternoons a month the catacombs are open.

Forty paces underground, in a labyrinth of corridors are skeletons of three million of Paris dead, neatly piled in rectangular stacks against the walls of the passageways or cleverly arranged in all manner of artistic patterns, mosaics, and designs, giving the interior of the death compartments an atmosphere of the uncanny that would be hard to duplicate.

Many of the patterns were most elaborate and cleverly drawn. On one wall was a huge spider, its body formed of skulls, its legs of crossbones. On others, skulls were grouped in beautiful crosses, against a background of crossbones.

In a miniature chapel, built of bones, sat a complete skeleton, on a bench made of bones, his lower jaw dropped in a devil-may-care grin. In another compartment was a hearth, constructed from bones, with a mantlepiece of skulls.

The catacombs owe their origin to the necessity of finding stone for the building of Paris. They served as quarries for years until, in 1784, a governmental decree ordered the "evacuation" of several large public burying grounds which had become overcrowded. The authorities began by removing bodies in tombs where families had failed to keep up the rents—in France most burial plots are rented, not purchased, as in America. The practice was repeated from time to time, until the catacombs became the dumping place for all Parisian pauper burying grounds.

"WORRIATION"

A colored man went to a Morris plan bank to make a payment on a loan and, after looking through all of his pockets, found the correct amount. As he tendered it he remarked, "Boss, money sho is a worriation, ain't it?" To which he quickly added, "Money and women is the very worst worriations what there is."

No one can clearly see his rights who is blind to his duties.—Omn.

Western Farms Opened to World War Veterans

WASHINGTON — Two hundred and twenty-two farms were opened to homesteaded entry by veterans of the world war in the North Platte region of Wyoming by the reclamation service of the department of interior.

Another opening will be made of fifty-seven farms in the Shoshone district of the same state. These farms are particularly adapted to dairying, which, according to the department's statistics, is rapidly coming to the front as one of the country's foremost industries.

A decade ago this land was a part of a vast range occupied by nomadic cattle. Through irrigation it has recently been transformed into one of the most fertile spots in Wyoming.

Two colonies of disabled ex-soldiers have been formed for the purpose of studying agriculture with the help of the federal board of vocational education.

Over 150 "recruit" farmers are in training at Ontario, California, and at Davis, California, there are 100 more trainees. Universities at cities where these colonies are located are co-operating during the school term and in the summer practical work on ranches is afforded.

During the training period and for the first two years of farm ownership the disabled ex-soldiers are paid from $100 to $170 per month.

Attics may be more easily cleaned and kept in order if the wall space is utilized in shelves or built-in closets. Hooks or nails may be placed at convenient heights and distances apart on which suitcases, baskets, bags, hats, clothing and small pieces of furniture are hung, designating certain sections of the wall for closets for winter clothing. Shelves, racks and even clothes lines may be placed on the walls for holding storage material.

Man Steals Only From Standard Oil Company

PORTLAND, Ore.—There's a highwayman working in Portland who has a sense of humor. He robs only Standard Oil gasoline filling stations, and will not take money from the men who tend the pumps.

Never has this robber been known to waylay a lonesome pedestrian; never has he burglarized a house; never has he sought to garner his precarious proceeds from the filling stations of gasoline companies competing with Standard Oil.

This unique holdup man made his debut in Portland, and then moved to California, where he was caught red-handed and served his term.

When he completed his term, "Coal-Oil Johnnie," as he is known to the detective bureau of the Portland police department, resumed his operations in Portland.

Merrily he goes his way. It goes something like this:

"Open the cash register," suavely remarks an unmasked figure, punctuating his order to the filling-station man with a blue revolver.

The man on the job opens the register, and also turns out his pockets. Keys rattle. "Coal-Oil Johnnie" transfers John D.'s money from the register to his own capacious pocket, and thanks the station man.

"Keep your money," he says, jovially.

"Can't you leave me some cash to open business with in the morning?" asked the F. S. M.

"Oh, Jawn Dee will take care of that. 'Goo' night."

And away he goes.

"Oh, it's somebody who has a grudge against the company," said Lieut. Pat Malone, of the detective force.

It is a wise citizen that knows whether a girl is smiling or laughing at him.

Paris Catacombs Reopen After War; Many Visitors

By EDWIN W. HULLINGER

PARIS—Unique among historical show-places in the world and famed for centuries on both continents, the catacombs of Paris were recently reopened to visitors, having been closed six years on account of the war.

The celebrated tombs, undisturbed by human visitation while the world was busy fighting above, have been a popular drawing point for the big influx of American tourists in Paris this summer. Long lines of Yankees form regularly outside the gates the two afternoons a month the catacombs are open.

Forty paces underground, in a labyrinth of corridors are skeletons of three million of Paris dead, neatly piled in rectangular stacks against the walls of the passageways or cleverly arranged in all manner of artistic patterns, mosaics, and designs, giving the interior of the death compartments an atmosphere of the uncanny that would be hard to duplicate.

Many of the patterns were most elaborate and cleverly drawn. On one wall was a huge spider, its body formed of skulls, its legs of crossbones. On others, skulls were grouped in beautiful crosses, against a background of crossbones.

In a miniature chapel, built of bones, sat a complete skeleton, on a bench made of bones, his lower jaw dropped in a devil-may-care grin. In another compartment was a hearth, constructed from bones, with a mantlepiece of skulls.

The catacombs owe their origin to the necessity of finding stone for the building of Paris. They served as quarries for years until, in 1784, a governmental decree ordered the "evacuation" of several large public burying grounds which had become overcrowded. The authorities began by removing bodies in tombs where families had failed to keep up the rents—in France most burial plots are rented, not purchased, as in America. The practice was repeated from time to time, until the catacombs became the dumping place for all Parisian pauper burying grounds.

"WORRIATION"

A colored man went to a Morris plan bank to make a payment on a loan and, after looking through all of his pockets, found the correct amount. As he tendered it he remarked, "Boss, money sho is a worriation, ain't it?" To which he quickly added, "Money and women is the very worst worriations what there is."

No one can clearly see his rights who is blind to his duties.—Omn.

PROF. PAUL CARSON MUSIC DIRECTOR AT GLENDALE

Prominent Musician Obtained by Manager Howe; Sunday Concerts Will Resume

Prof. Paul Carson, a graduate of Northwestern university at Evanston, Ill., and for ten years a teacher of music and harmony there, will begin an engagement on Monday, October 10, at the Glendale theatre. He will preside at the console of the great Estes organ.

Mr. Carson has appeared as the featured pianist and organist on a concert tour through England, Scotland, Wales, France, Belgium, Italy and Spain besides playing in some of the largest middle eastern theatres. He has memorized more than 1600 pieces, has a library of 2000 more and is a composer of note.

In addition to being a most versatile musician, he has directed Chicago theatre orchestras and brings to Glendale a reputation superior to any organist now employed in Southern California. Indeed, he will be a decided acquisition to the musical community as well as an attraction at the Glendale theatre.

Sunday Night Concerts. Mr. Carson will personally direct the music for the Bert Levy "big time" vaudeville shows opening at the Glendale, October 11, and he will revive the Sunday night organ concerts. Local people who have heard the professor play agree that he is a master musician.

Manager William A. Howe also announces that Jimmie Richardson, well known to local people as the former manager of the Palace Grand, has been added to the executive staff of the Glendale Theatre, which has a wonderful winter season of entertainment ahead.

Roy Gardner Passes Through?

According to the story told the Los Angeles sheriff's office by two boys, Roy Gardner passed through Glendale and Los Angeles Saturday night on his way to the Mexican border. However, the story is discredited by the police who claim a jewelry salesman frightened the youths with the story of being the notorious escaped bandit in order that they would not attempt to seize his valuables.

Floods in Cotton Country

Approximately half of the fifty-mile stretch of track of the California Southern railroad, in the eastern part of Riverside county, was reported yesterday to have been washed away by floods following cloudbursts in several places in the mountains. Wires were down throughout the district served by that line. Thousands of acres of rich cotton land, on which the crop is almost ready for harvesting, were said to be covered with water. Many families were forced to flee from their homes.

Throngs Visit Battleships

Visitors to the ships of the Pacific fleet at San Pedro harbor yesterday shattered all previous records as to numbers. All day the shore boats and ships' boats plied the channel carrying loads of eager sightseers. All ships came in for their share of attention but the California seemed to be the real center of attraction.

A twelve-story business and office building is to be constructed soon at the northwest corner of Seventh and Olive streets, in Los Angeles, by a corporation which, it is understood, will be headed by W. BURMESE COURTSHIP

Courtship in Burma is a more open and natural flirtation than it is in almost any other part of the east. He means business, however, and if the families consent he persuades her to eat a meal with him in public, and by virtue of this procedure his bachelorhood is brought to an abrupt end.

NATIONS IN BATTLE FOR CONTROL OF PACIFIC OCEAN

Cables and Modern Fleets Are Making Issue Really One National Life, Death

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.—

Practically every rock and coral reef in the Pacific Ocean is involved in the forthcoming Washington conference on limitation of armaments and far eastern affairs. The much discussed Pacific question is not so much a question of the ocean itself as the innumerable large and small islands dotting it. It may easily be a question of life or death for the interested powers.

It was not until a generation ago that the great powers perceived the immense value of the Pacific islands, the National Geographic society declared in a comprehensive review of the Pacific angle of the conference made public today.

If modern fleets had to be operated 6000 miles from home without fuel bases, or if cables had to span such distances under water without relay stations, offensive naval warfare and telegraphic communications over wires would be practically impossible, the survey stated. "The great powers of the world woke up to this fact in earnest about a generation ago and began taking over island bases and stations in the Pacific that had previously seemed of little more significance than stages for exotic dances and cannibal feasts.

Show Keen Interest

"Before this, islands and the lands bordering the world's greatest ocean had been acquired chiefly with the idea of exploiting their products, and only the larger areas were considered important. With the realization of the valuable parts that naval bases and relay stations might play in the future, there developed a keen interest in even the tiniest rocks and coral rings.

"As landlords of the domains that bound the vast bowl of the Pacific now sit three great vitally interested powers—the United States, Great Britain and Japan. In addition there are four nations hardly less interested—China, Russia, Holland and France. Among those countries whose interests are by no means negligible are Mexico, Chile and the other west coast Latin-American states. Spain and Germany have passed from the Pacific; but in passing each has accentuated the problems of the United States.

"What may be called the 'stakes' of the various countries whose lands hem in the Pacific vary greatly on a basis of their coast lines. The United States leads in miles of frontage on the Pacific with more than 4000 miles, counting both the sweep of the Aleutian Islands and the part of Alaska above them. The Philippines add a direct frontage of about 1000 miles on the other side of the great ocean.

Coast Line Protection

"Asiatic Russia is second with approximately 3500 miles from Behring Strait to Chosen (Korea), counting the coast line of the sea of Okhotsk, comparable in size to our own Gulf of Mexico.

"Across the southwestern corner of the Pacific, British territory stretches from Dutch New Guinea to New Zealand, a distance of about 3,500 miles, but with a break of more than 1000 miles between Australia and New Zealand. In a way, however, Australia may fairly be considered entirely a Pacific land, giving Great Britain by far the greatest coast line of approximately 8000 miles, easily reached by fleets from the Pacific, and it matters little from a naval point of view that half the water that bathes this long shore line is called the Indian Ocean. Canada adds approximately 500 miles to British Pacific coast lines.

Have Direct Frontage

"The islands that constitute Japan stretch from near the tip of Kamchatka to the southern point of Taiwan (Formosa), and thus have a frontage on the Pacific of about 2,700 miles. The coast line of Japan is much greater, however, due to the western frontage on the Sea of Okhotsk, the Sea of Japan and the Yellow and Eastern Seas.

"Screened by the Philippines and the British possessions in northern Borneo, the Dutch possessions have a direct frontage on the Pacific of only about 1000 miles; but their total coast line, counting that on the Indian Ocean, is many times that figure. China's coast line, too, is screened by Japan. It amounts to about 2000 miles. French Indo China, behind the Philippines, has a coast line of about 1000 miles on the China Sea.

"On the eastern side of the Pacific, Mexico has a coast line of more than 2000 miles, while that of Chile is more than 2500 miles. The aggregate Pacific coast line of the remaining Latin-American countries will amount to about 3500 miles.

"But it is the small scattered islands controlled by these bordering nations that constitute the crux of the 'Pacific problem.' Practically all the islands in the Pacific proper are under the control of Great Britain, France, the United States and Japan. All of the French and most of the British holdings are situated south of the equator, leaving the United States and Japan in close competition above that line. Guam is practically surrounded by newly acquired Japanese islands, formerly owned by Germany; and Japanese lands skirt the Philippines on three sides. The United States is not a large holder of Pacific islands, but it owns the group which is by far the most important strategically—Hawaii."

W. H. Reeves, City Manager, Supports School Bond Issue

W. H. Reeves, city manager, today made the following statement relative to the proposed $250,000 school bond issue:

"I expect to see the voters endorse the proposed school bond issue for Glendale. Increased facilities for our school children are imperatively demanded at this time. We must try in every way to keep pace with the growth of our city, particularly so far as school facilities are concerned.

"From personal contact with our School Board I know them to be a body of earnest and sincere men and women actuated by the very highest of motives in their present plans for our children. Further, in Richardson D. White we have combined a school superintendent and a capable business man. When the bonds are voted, no taxpayer need fear any suspicion of waste or extravagance in the expenditure of these funds under Mr. White's supervision.

"The present statement of the needs of the school district should be all that is necessary to command the hearty support of the parents and taxpayers of the city of Glendale."

MIXED RADIATIONS

The radiation of heat and light just above the earth's surface is a mixture of radiations from the sun, the sky and the earth itself. With an 'Arago' actinometer of perfected calibration, J. Vallot, as reported to the French academy, has been able to estimate the relative proportions. In the clear atmosphere of Nice the earth appears to be the source of about 7 per cent of the total radiation; the sky, of about 25 per cent, and the remainder represents the portion coming directly from the sun.

A crow lighting on a heavily charged wire was instantly killed and fell a blazing mass into a field of uncut hay near Spencerport, New York. The hayfield caught fire, causing a loss of several hundred dollars and threatened adjoining wheat fields, whose uncut crops were estimated to be worth several thousands. The Spencerport fire department rushed to the scene and prevented further damage.

Rev. E. Guy Talbot Tells of Conditions Throughout Europe

Rev. E. Guy Talbot, who has just returned from a thorough survey of war-stricken conditions in Europe, addressed the congregation at the First Methodist church yesterday morning. In the past three months he traveled 20,000 miles and visited ten countries. His description of the devastations of war, poverty, starvation and disease was quite vivid. He said that in some respects present conditions in Europe were more heartrending than war itself. Rev. Talbot declared that Armenia's need was greatest after Russia's. He gave great praise to America's generous help and referred to Glendale's part as a record worthy of mention.

Food for seven years will be placed in the ship of Captain Roland Amundsen, noted Arctic explorer, when he sails into the north next May. Captain Amundsen states that north of 85 degrees latitude there is little or no animal life and the explorer who finds himself that far north without provisions may as well abandon hope.

The 47th annual convention of the American Bankers' Association opened its sessions in Los Angeles today. The convention will last until next Friday. The officers of this great financial association feel that in this convention lies the means of obtaining that co-operation among the banking and business interests of the country which will go a long way toward bringing the country back to a normal condition.

The American Bankers' Association has had other conventions since the Armistice, but it has been impossible at these gatherings to do more than merely attempt to solve post-war problems. It is now believed that sufficient time has elapsed to allow the financial and business world to get its bearings and to move forward to the solution of many of the war-created problems now facing the world in general and the United States in particular.

The American Bankers' Association represents a membership of more than 27,000. This number will be represented by approximately 340 delegates at the Los Angeles convention. Although the convention is primarily one of bankers, there will be representatives from almost every class of endeavor, who will bring before the convention in concise form a resume of the particular problems with which they are faced. With such first hand knowledge before them, the assembled bankers, who themselves have their fingers upon the industrial pulse of their respective sections of the country, will be in a position to formulate policies of a far reaching nature, which it is believed will do more than anything else to stabilize the present business unrest.

Financial leaders of Los Angeles believe that it is particularly fitting that the American Bankers' Association Convention be held in Los Angeles. They point to the recently issued and widely published report of the United States Chamber of Commerce which showed this section of the country to be the only "white spot" on the business, financial and industrial map of the United States.

Although business men recognize the fact that the United States can never return to its former commercial isolation as regards world trade, it is an accepted fact among financial authorities that few realize that it is our isolation which is doing more than any one factor to delay the return to normal business conditions. Lack of co-operation between business men, bankers and manufacturers in various sections of this country has led to the creation of local depressions which are unnecessary and could be obviated by broad policy of intersectional co-operation. This co-operation, it is known, must be and will be extended to the development of international trade and credits. In this way much of the unemployment now existing will be done away with and manufacturing for world trade will again become active.

There will be important addresses before the convention covering subjects of international credits and the development of international trade. On the former subject Sir Drummond Fraser, K. B. E. will speak on the "Inter-Munition bond scheme." On the latter subject there will be an important address on "Free Zones and Free Ports."

Other prominent speakers will be Frank O. Watts, Chairman, American Finance Group at the International Chamber of Commerce meeting in London, June 25, to July 3, and President of the First National Bank of St. Louis, on "Our Part in the World's Commerce"; and Judge Charles F. Moore of New York on "Our Free Country."

The general convention sessions will take place October 4-7 inclusive. The convention will be called to order by John S. Drum, President of the American Bankers' Association. After the invocation by Bishop W. B. Stevens the address of welcome will be delivered by J. M. Elliott.

Meetings of divisions and sections of the convention will be held from Monday to Friday, inclusive. The convention proper will be held in the Philharmonic Auditorium. Various headquarters will be as follows: Official family, Alexandria Hotel; Committee Chairmen, Alexandria Hotel; State Secretaries, Alexandria Hotel; National Bank, Clark Hotel; Clearing House, Clark Hotel; State Bank, Rosslyn Hotel; Savings Bank, Rosslyn Hotel; and Trust Company, Ambassador Hotel.

GERMAN INDUSTRIES STRONG; FINANCES IN POOR SHAPE

Idle Have Decreased to About 400,000; Both Plants and People In Deep Debt

BERLIN, October 3.—Germany's industrial situation is booming.

Its governmental finances, however, are in a ruinous condition, with scant prospect of improvement in the near future.

German industry has been gradually but surely coming to the fore since the revolution. Two summers ago everybody, except the far-seeing and those who had no propaganda to turn out, were saying that Germany was "ruined."

But her industrialists have not been idle in the meantime. And the workmen, formerly obsessed with "strike fever," have long since passed the stage where they hope to achieve their ends by strikes on any and all occasions. In place of this strike fever has come the old pre-war "Arbeitslust"—willingness or desire to work—until now Germany has only around 400,000 unemployed.

Doing Large Business

As a result of the growing reconstruction, Germany is now doing a tremendous business abroad and at home. She is cutting into the South American trade of America and England, due mainly to the fact that her exchange is so depreciated that these countries cannot compete with her.

Stinnes, Krupp, and von Haniel have been busy consolidating smaller concerns, improving their processes and organizing for a campaign that comprehends securing of a large slice of the world's trade.

Take Krupp, for instance! The world knows Krupp mainly for its guns and munitions, for its "Big Bertha" of wartime. But Krupp, while always employed to a certain extent on warlike work, has ever been a tremendous peacetime steel industry. Its products have been known the world over because of the secret processes which made their steel superior. Today, Krupp employs about 99,000 workers, or 18,000 more than before the war. This increase is partly due to the fact that extra shifts must be installed to meet the eight-hour day requirement. But, it also means that Krupp is now on a full peace footing and "going strong."

The last vestiges of gun manufacture have been swept away. Now, Krupp is a mammoth steel plant, making locomotives, car wheels, freight cars, machinery of various kinds.

Huge Consolidations

Krupp is merely a sample. What is true of the achievement of this concern is true of virtually every line of German industrial endeavor. The only industry suffering a slump is shipbuilding. This is dull, owing to the fact that Germany can now buy tonnage cheaper than she can construct it. She has, however, already placed the nucleus of a new commerce fleet upon the seas, and every indication is that within the next few years she will again have "a place in the sun" as respects ocean carrying.

Germany has talked much of socialization since the revolution, but has done nothing important to achieve it. The great consolidations undertaken by such men as Stinnes and von Haniel are socialistic in the sense of their all-inclusiveness, but are quite under private control. These consolidations are so tremendous as to rival the romantic combinations of vast industries in America.

Finances Are Swamped

It can truly be said that German industry is flourishing. But, on the other side of the picture, Germany's finances are in a despairing condition. Swamped with debts and reparations, her budget is sick. It is estimated that to meet her debts, including reparations, Germany must raise at least 100,000,000,000 paper marks a year; and must do an export business of 2,000,000,000 to 2,500,000,000 marks more annually than before the war.

The German task is immense. Her industrial leaders, however, are striving to readjust their methods to meet the new requirements. These requirements, aided by bad exchange, are making business for Germany. Her leaders say that, if she is compelled to go to the bitter end with reparations, she will have acquired an industrial technique and ability which will give her a supreme place in the world's business.

Young Collins from the west was spending the summer on the farm of his eastern uncle, and offered to assist the farmer.

They had been making hay one afternoon, and after finishing a high haystack, the young fellow called him from the top:

The old farmer studied the problem a minute, and finally solved it to his own satisfaction.

"Oh, just shut your eyes and walk around a bit!"

There may be plenty of room at the top but victims of that tired feeling never reach it.

TRAGIC DRAMA FOR MAN WHO SAYS HE HAS FORGOTTEN

Former Popular Dentist Will Go on Trial Upon Charge of Murdering Hermit

ROSEBURG, Ore., Oct. 3.—Roseburg's own tragic drama of Dr. Jekyll, suspected as Mr. Hyde, will approach its denouement here October 5 when Dr. Richard Melvin Brumfield, once a popular dentist here, is scheduled to go to trial to answer charges implicating him as the murderer of Dennis Russell, hermit laborer, the night of July 13.

Brumfield came to Roseburg from Indiana, settled down as one of the city's leading dentists, and made for himself an enviable niche as a social lion. He married. For some years matters went smoothly for the Brumfield family. Then it seemed as if all the four-leaf clovers on his ranch just outside the city limits died all at once. His house burned down. Later the new home he built also burned. In each case he had insurance to cover, or nearly to cover the loss.

Then he bought additional land, heaped added financial burdens upon himself until the citizens of Roseburg began to regard him as a man who had the iron nerve to play the game quietly, for large stakes. He was carrying a big load.

He continued to mingle with the life of the town. He was the leading exponent of the arts, was well-read, well versed in the lore of poetry, music, and literature.

Then one night wayfarers discovered Brumfield's car aflame at the foot of a steep embankment. Aid was summoned, and there, beneath the car, they found a body wearing Brumfield's ring, his cravat pin, with his keys hanging in the automobile ignition lock, but with the head apparently blown off the body, apparently with dynamite. Sticks of dynamite were found in the car. Search started for Dennis Russell as the murderer of "good old Doc Brumfield."

Some Have Doubts

Almost everybody agreed it was the Doc's corpse, but some began to doubt. An inquest was held. The town divided. Some said the body was Brumfield's, others said it was Russell's. Men came forward who said they had seen the two together the night of the murder, had heard gun shots, had seen Brumfield bundling something that looked like a corpse into his automobile. The corpse was clothed in Russell's rough working clothes. Russell's letters were found in the pocket. The coroner decided the body was that of Russell and, instead of hunting for Russell, they began hunting for Brumfield. A reward of $2000 was offered.

The "Doc" was found in Calgary, Alberta, Canada, and was brought back here to face trial. He was indicted. But he couldn't remember. He might have committed the murder; if the officers said so, there must be something to it. On the other hand, it seemed to him that he killed a man he should feel some remorse. He felt none, he said.

Shows Different Story

He just "couldn't remember." Brumfield confessed to having had attacks of amnesia at recurrent intervals during his life, and they had proved embarrassing. And he could not explain why he had shipped a box of feminine "pretties" to himself at Seattle, under the name of Norman Whitney; the alias he assumed while working on an Alberta farm prior to his arrest.

But the authorities say his financial condition when he left Roseburg indicates an entirely different story. They claim he was in debt to a sum exceeding $25,000, and that he was insured for over $21,000. They discovered, they say, that he had borrowed every dime he could get, had mortgaged his real property to the limit, and had drawn his bank balances down to the last dollar. They say he attempted to pose as a corpse so that the insurance money would be paid to his wife and his creditors would be satisfied. He himself, they say, was weary of the grind and wanted freedom from care.

Mrs. B. F. Cook and Daughter Back From Trip to San Diego

Mrs. B. F. Cook and daughter, Harriet, of 615 North Brand boulevard returned last evening from a motor trip to Barrett's dam, forty-two miles the other side of San Diego, which was made in record time in the new Nash roadster recently purchased by Mrs. Cook.

The motif of the dash through the rain and mud Saturday was the birthday of Mrs. C. A. Minter, mother of Mrs. Cook, and it was a pleasure for all when the sturdy car pulled over the last twenty-four miles of mountain grades after a two-hour battle with the elements. Of course, a warm dinner and good night's rest awaited the motorists before they started on the return trip.

Daylight Saving Bad for Rabbits, Humans

PHILADELPHIA—That daylight saving is injurious to the health and nervous system of humans is the contention of Dr. William Franklin Baker, president of the Philadelphia County Homeopathic Medical society. He gives what he considers conclusive proof of the contention.

The proof is contained in experiments which Dr. Baker carried on with two rabbits. Rabbits are affected in much the same way as humans would be under certain conditions, the doctor said, and that is why they are used extensively in medical and scientific experiments.

The two rabbits with which Dr. Baker experimented were the same weight from the same litter, when he started, he said. They were living then under normal conditions. Now, after a few months living by daylight saving time, one of the rabbits is ten ounces lighter and is nervous and twitchy, while the other, kept under regular conditions, is perfectly normal in every way.

The "daylight saving" rabbit was kept awake for one hour every night and awakened an hour earlier in the morning, simulating, according to Dr. Baker, the results of daylight saving on the human race.

"What is true of rabbits is true of human beings, particularly of the young," said Dr. Baker. "There is a definite rhythm or cycle of the day. It is a well known fact that man reaches his lowest ebb of energy between 2 and 4 o'clock in the morning. Under daylight saving he does not recover as thoroughly from his low ebb. Often it is noon before he reaches anything like efficiency."

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Advertisement.

HERE'S A WATER MYSTERY!
SAN FRANCISCO—What became of the 316 cases of bonded Scotch whiskey on board the power schooner Mamook? The vessel which recently was guarded by internal revenue agents and prohibition officers when it put in for repairs at Eureka, Cal., docked at San Francisco without a drop of hard liquor aboard.

Captain Brock and the Mamook crew declared that the precious cargo had been thrown overboard to the last bottle in order to keep the vessel from swamping in a heavy storm. The Mamook was bound from Vancouver, B. C., to Ensenada, Mexico, which was the ostensible destination of the vanished cargo.
